

Deb Moriarty, Region II Director
Report for the 2012 Summer Board of Directors Meeting
June 29, 2012

Discussion Items

1. The Small Colleges & Universities Division unanimously endorsed implementation of a revised membership dues structure for colleges/universities with enrollments of less than 500 during its June teleconference. This proposal also was supported by the members of the Region II Advisory Board at its June meeting. Some conversation was held about the potential cost and wellness implications of institutional policy changes based on the health care reform legislation (and the upcoming Supreme Court ruling) for students at small colleges and universities. Prompt distribution of interpretations from the Public Policy Division and NASPA staff should be a priority.

2. RII's Public Policy rep reports that after serving on this division for Region II for over 4 years, I believe that the support of NASPA for public policy has greatly increased. The communication between the division director and the regional representatives has improved and the Washington Update that NASPA's office provides to the division is invaluable. I believe that although the division's webpage has improved I believe that NASPA's website needs updating. Many members are concerned that it is difficult to navigate and at too many different points a password is requested, instead of at one central point such as our college portals. An improved website and perhaps a phone/tablet application would increase use of the entire NASPA site as well as our division.

Action Items

None for Region II

- g. As both innovative and inclusive, Bridging Communities, Transforming Lives - the 2013 Regional Conference will be hosted by John Jay College, an institution within the City University of New York system (CUNY). CUNY has not been active in Region II and this provides a fantastic opportunity for continued bridge building with the largest metropolitan system in the United States.
