FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, AUGUST 2014

ROUTLEDGE TO PUBLISH NASPA JOURNALS BEGINNING IN JANUARY 2015

Philadelphia – Taylor & Francis Group and NASPA–Student Affairs Administrators in Higher Education are pleased to announce a new publishing partnership for 2015. Beginning in January, Taylor & Francis will publish and distribute NASPA’s three highly regarded journals: Journal of Student Affairs Research and Practice, Journal of College and Character, and the NASPA Journal About Women in Higher Education under the Routledge imprint.

NASPA is the leading association for the advancement, health and sustainability of the student affairs profession. NASPA’s work provides high-quality professional development, advocacy, and research for 13,000 members in all 50 states, 25 countries, and 8 U.S. territories. For more information, please visit: <http://www.naspa.org>.

Published quarterly, the Journal of Student Affairs Research and Practice publishes the most rigorous, relevant, and well-respected research and practice making a difference in student affairs, including unconventional papers that engage in methodological and epistemological extensions that transcend the boundaries of traditional research inquiries.

Journal of College and Character is a professional journal that examines how colleges and universities influence the moral and civic learning and behavior of students. Published quarterly, the journal features scholarly articles and applied research on issues related to ethics, values, and character development in a higher education setting.

NASPA Journal About Women in Higher Education focuses on issues affecting all women in higher education: students, student affairs staff, faculty, and other administrative groups. The journal is intended for both practitioners and researchers and includes articles that focus on empirical research, pedagogy, and administrative practice.
